Privacy Policy

Your privacy matters to us. This Privacy Policy sets out how BJS Soft Solutions LLC and its affiliates (collectively referred to as "BJS Soft Solutions," "we," "us," or "our") handle your personal information

"BJS Soft Solutions," "we," "us," or "our") handle your personal information.

This policy explains how we collect, use, process, share, and store your personal information when you interact with us — including through our website www.bjssoftsolutions.com, our sales and marketing activities, and any other communication channels we use.

The goal of this Privacy Policy is simple: To help you understand what personal information we collect, why we collect it, how we use it, and how we protect it, while informing you about your rights and choices under applicable data protection laws such as GDPR and relevant U.S. Data Protection Regulations.

All personal data is processed in line with this policy and applicable local laws governing data protection in the regions where you reside or interact with us.

About us

BJS Soft Solutions LLC is a technology solutions company headquartered in California, dedicated to driving digital transformation for businesses across the globe.

We specialize in crafting smart, scalable, and innovative software that empowers organizations to grow, adapt, and lead in a connected world. From startups to enterprises, we help clients turn bold ideas into impactful digital experiences.

For this Policy, BJS Soft Solutions acts as the data controller of your personal information as outlined in this document, unless specified otherwise.

More information about our global offices and presence can be found here: <https://bjssoftsolutions.com/contact-us/>

Personal Information we collect about you.

At BJS Soft Solutions, we collect only the information necessary to help you use our website, get in touch with us, or access our services. All information gathered is handled responsibly and used strictly in line with this Privacy Policy.

Information You Provide to Us:

When you contact us through our website forms, email, or other communication channels, you may share details such as:

- Your name, phone number, and email address
- Company name and basic business information
- The content of your message or inquiry

If you apply for a position at BJS Soft Solutions, we may also collect details from your application, such as your CV, location, and professional background. You may also provide similar details about someone you wish to refer.

We may occasionally receive information about you from trusted third parties, such as LinkedIn, if you've given them permission to share your details. We recommend reviewing their privacy policies before sharing any personal information on such platforms.

Information Collected Automatically:

When you visit our website, certain information may be collected automatically to improve your browsing experience, including:

- Details about your visits and activity, such as your IP address, geographical location, browser type, and pages viewed
- Information about your device, including the hardware model and operating system version
- Cookies and tracking data — to learn more about how we use cookies and how to manage your preferences, please see the Cookies section below.

Simply Put, We May Collect the Following Information:

To make your experience smoother and our communication more effective, we may collect the following details when you interact with BJS Soft Solutions:

- Your full name
- Your email address

- Your phone number
- Your geographical location
- Your designation or job title
- Your company name
- Your company location
- Your LinkedIn profile (if shared)
- The fact that you have visited our website
- The website or source that referred you to ours
- Whether you have downloaded any marketing materials from our website

How long is your information kept for?

We only keep your personal information for as long as it's needed — either to fulfill the purpose for which it was collected or to meet legal or regulatory requirements. Once that purpose no longer exists, we securely delete your data.

What does that mean?

- We'll always delete your data upon your request, unless legal obligations require us to keep it.
- If we're legally required to retain certain information, we'll inform you about it clearly.
- We never store your data indefinitely.
- If we process your data based on legitimate interest (for example, while in a business relationship), we'll retain it only for as long as that relationship exists.
- If no business relationship begins, your data may be stored for a limited time (up to one year) for internal analysis purposes — after which it will be deleted automatically, as we consider older data to be outdated.

Do we use cookies?

Yes, we do. When you visit the BJS Soft Solutions website, we may place cookies and similar tracking technologies ("Cookies") on your device, browser, or the webpage you're viewing. These cookies help us personalize your experience, understand how you use our site, and continuously improve our services.

Cookies are small text files stored on your device when you visit a website. They allow the site to recognize you and tailor content to your preferences when you return. Cookies typically don't contain information that identifies you personally, but in some cases, we may link the data collected through cookies with personal information we already have about you.

Why We Use Cookies?

We use cookies for a few main purposes:

1. Functional Cookies

These cookies ensure our website works properly and provides you with a smooth browsing experience. For example, functional cookies help:

- Remember information you've entered in forms so you don't need to fill it out again.
- Enable sharing of pages on social platforms like LinkedIn, Facebook, or X (Twitter).
- Examples include: SID, PHPSESSID, wp-settings-X, wp-settings-time-X, etc.

2. Performance Cookies

These cookies help us analyze how visitors use our website and track its performance. For instance, Google Analytics cookies collect anonymous information about page views, time spent, and navigation paths — allowing us to identify popular content, fix issues quickly, and enhance usability. We may also use cookies to recommend articles or services we think might interest you based on your browsing activity.

3. Advertising Cookies

We don't show third-party ads on our own website, but we do promote BJS Soft Solutions services on other platforms. Those platforms may use cookies to remember your interests and show you relevant ads based on your browsing behavior. Examples of third-party cookies include: sb, fr, spin, wd, xs, and others.

How to reject and delete cookies?

You have full control over your cookie preferences. Most browsers accept cookies automatically, but you can easily block or delete cookies at any time. To do so, adjust your browser settings — you can usually find this option under the "Help" or "Settings" menu.

Please note that disabling cookies may affect how some parts of our website function, and certain features may not work as intended.

Where is your data processed?

BJS Soft Solutions LLC is a Limited Liability Company headquartered in California, USA. For the purposes of this Privacy Policy, BJS Soft Solutions acts as the data controller of your personal information, unless stated otherwise.

Your information may be processed in locations where we, our affiliates, or our trusted partners operate — always in accordance with applicable data protection laws. You can find more information about our global offices here: <https://bjssoftsolutions.com/contact-us/>

Do we profile you?

We only conduct profiling or data segmentation if you have explicitly given consent to receive marketing materials or personalized communication from us. Any profiling we perform is done solely to provide you with more relevant information about our products, services, or updates — and always in compliance with this Privacy Policy.

Is your data secured?

At BJS Soft Solutions, safeguarding your information is one of our highest priorities. We are ISO 27001 certified, which means we follow globally recognized standards for information security management. We take all appropriate technical and organizational measures to keep your data safe and compliant with GDPR and other applicable data protection laws.

Here's how we ensure your data remains secure:

- All our employees, partners, and consultants are bound by strict confidentiality agreements (NDAs) and can only process data for purposes defined in this Policy.
- We enforce a company-wide Information Security Policy, mandatory for all employees, contractors, and consultants.
- Our security practices are reviewed and approved annually by executive management to ensure they stay up to date.
- The policy covers all information assets — including electronic data, software, hardware, and physical documents.
- All employees undergo mandatory privacy and security training.
- Our servers, systems, and network devices are regularly updated with the latest antivirus and anti-malware protection.
- Strong authentication and access controls are maintained to prevent unauthorized access.
- We continuously monitor and analyze emerging threats, vulnerabilities, and real-world attacks to strengthen our defenses.
- Regular risk assessments are conducted each year to ensure continued protection and compliance.

Your trust matters to us — and we are fully committed to maintaining the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of your information at all times.

Legal Disclaimer

In certain circumstances, BJS Soft Solutions may be required to disclose personal data in response to lawful requests by public authorities. This includes situations involving national security, law enforcement, or other legal obligations that require our cooperation.

We may also share your personal information when required by law, for example, to comply with a subpoena, court order, or government request.

In cases such as mergers, acquisitions, divestitures, or asset sales, your data may be transferred to the acquiring organization but only if that organization agrees to uphold the same level of protection outlined in this Privacy Policy.

Additionally, we may disclose your information in good faith when such action is necessary to:

- Protect our legal rights and property
- Safeguard your safety or the safety of others
- Prevent or investigate fraud or other illegal activities
- Respond to lawful government or regulatory requests

At BJS Soft Solutions, we are committed to handling all disclosures with transparency and only to the extent strictly required by law.

What our clients say

"I have worked with the owner, Zain, over the past few months and found him to be a focused and knowledgeable software developer with a large staff (I did not work with his staff so I cannot comment on them). He is available most or all hours of the day or night which is convenient if you are in a different time zone."
